

What's in store?

With Virgin Atlantic Flightstore

In this month's newsletter, we have a destination spotlight on Cancun, home to the best beaches, landscapes and archaeological marvels.

We also focus on Orlando and Universal Orlando Resort's newest theme park, Universal Epic Universe, opening 22 May 2025. Read on to catch all the details and more!

A woman with dark, wet, curly hair is sitting in a red lounge chair. She is wearing pink and white striped sunglasses and has a white towel draped over her shoulders. Her face is wet with water droplets. She is looking slightly to the side with a slight smile. In the background, there is a large swimming pool, palm trees, and a multi-story resort building under a bright blue sky with scattered white clouds.

Delta Air Lines unveils new Delta One Lounge at LAX

Delta is showing the world exactly how a premium airport lounge should be. The new Delta One Lounge at LAX is directly connected to the Delta One check-in, ensuring its visitors experience a completely private group experience.

An experience they won't forget

Visitors will enjoy a service-led dining experience from every seat. The food choices fall nothing short of delicious, from crispy duck tacos to pan-roasted salmon and a year-round sushi bar – travellers are sure to find a favourite. The menu is rotated regularly, so returning guests will always have something new to try.

For those preferring to sip instead of nibble, the signature cocktails will have them travelling the world with their tastebuds through destination-themed beverages.

The Delta One Lounge is also home to a calming wellness room. There, travellers will find eight private relaxation pods equipped with full-body massage chairs and zero-gravity chairs. Lighting in the wellness room is programmed to match the body's circadian rhythm, making time zone changes easier to climatise to. Wellness-themed drinks are available in this room, as well as refreshing towels and product samples from Grown Alchemist.

See you soon, Cancun

Flights on sale 4 December 2024!

Fly your clients to this jewel of the Mexican Caribbean, Virgin Atlantic style. With the exciting news that Virgin Atlantic is to resume direct flights to Cancun on 19 October 2025 – just in time for some winter sun – there's never been a better time to get your clients excited about this fascinating destination. Flights will go on sale on 4 December 2024!

Hello Cancun

Cancun, a tropical paradise on the eastern coast of Mexico, is blessed with white-sand beaches, azure waters, and mouthwatering local cuisine. While it boasts all the comforts of a modern Mexican beach holiday, Cancun is also home to incredible natural landscapes and awe-inspiring Mayan archaeological sites. And if ancient Mayan ruins don't tempt your clients, the watersports, golf and designer shopping just might.

Direct flights to Cancun

The service, which last ran in 2019, will operate three times a week from London Heathrow to Cancun International Airport. The route will operate on their newest aircraft, the A350, which boasts 16 seats in Upper Class where your clients can make the most of the social space 'The Booth', as well as 56 in Premium and 325 Economy Delight, Classic and Light seats.
